“ i miss you. and i'll never forget you. i'll always cherish every moment i've spent with you and hold you deep in my heart. i'm sad that you were called home what seems to me so early. i didn't have you long enough. it's been 10 days since your passing and everyday i wake up with you on my mind. i know that you was here with me yesterday. your smell of flowers. i'm sorry i wasn't there with you in your last moments. trust me it haunts me everyday that i wish i was there to tell you i love you one last time and give you one more hug. i remember the biggest hug you ever gave me. still remember you holding me that day. crying to me and telling me you prayed for the sickness to go away. you prayed over me. prayed over the negative that was over me. everyday it comes back i chant your words in my mind and it goes away. i love you. always.
