Theresa Edwards

My name is Theresa Edwards, I worked with Bruce years ago in NYC, he was very kind to me and I'm sorry for your loss. I want to leave you with this message.

NO RHYME NO REASON

There's nothing you can do when a love one dies, there's nothing you can do to stop tears falling from your eyes, don't try to stop the ache or the breaking of your heart, don't try to stop the reasoning of they had to part.

*There is no rhyme or reason, for why our time draws near,
to go home to our father who loves us very dear.*

*The important thing to remember for our loved ones left behind Though Bruce is gone of body, he's alive in our hearts and mind.
It's always been the "CREATORS" plan, since man stepped on this earth, to come and go from Life to Death, To an ultimate Rebirth.*

PS: May the goodness and mercy of "ALL THAT IS" go before your family making easy and successful your way..

Thank you Paul for taking the time to search & compile these pics of Bruce. His smile is priceless, and I know when God calls us home, Bruce will be there with that smile, saying, "Welcome home!". 😊

Roxanne (Roxy) Sandoval - October 11, 2016 at 10:55 AM

“ I will always remember Bruce as a kind and generous person. I was grateful to have had the opportunity call him my friend. His loss has, and will continue to be felt by so many individuals who admired his spirited nature and joy for the company of others. God's blessing on all who grieve his senseless passing.

“ Thoughts, prayers and condolences for Bruce's family. My heart aches knowing he is no longer with us. But I know he is looking down on his daughter, his siblings, all of his friends and me and comforting us as only he knows how.
