“ Chris arrived on this earth six weeks early, October 18, 1977. In his youth, he brought lots of silliness, always making friends easily, loved riding his bike and seeking adventure. He grew into a young man with great artistic ability from sketching to tattoos. Chris became a young father and loved his children, Kameryn and Joey fiercely. Choosing to live an adventurous, often precarious life, he dubbed himself, Freebird. As his parents, we wanted a more secure, happy, stable, family friendly life for him but he chose a different path. On March 30, 2026, far too young, his earthly journey came to a treacherous end. Our prayer is that now he is at peace in the loving arms of Jesus. Fly high son, you will always be loved and remembered. 🌈 “He will wipe away every tear and make all things new.” Revelations 21:4-5
